Forty-five passenger elevators in Chicago's largest department store carry as many as 125,000 people on an average business day, while the stores escalators often carry more than 10,000 passengers during a single rush hour. As might be suspected, the firm does some newspaper advertising.

Rangers in Western Thriller at Milam Theatre Friday and Saturday

In most western action thrillers, the Rangers are heroes. Republic has reversed the formula in "Heart of the Rockies," which opens Friday, April 1st, at the Milam Theatre, and the Rangers stymie every move made by the Three Mesquiteers in the interests of law and order—until a set of complications are straightened out.

The Rangers are opposed to the Mesquiteers, principally because they shoot the wild game which comes out of the park preserve to kill cattle. The Mesquiteers, on the other hand, believe that vicious man-eating ani-

FARM CLUB NEWS

Mrs. J. A. McKinney,
Jones Prairie Home Dem. Club,
Cameron, Texas, Rt. 2:

"Cooking is an art, as we know and the most important in the catalogue of arts because it so vitally affects the health and happiness of the human race. Since it occupies such an important place in the lives of people should we not strive to teach our children the first rudiments of cooking?" said Mrs. E. G. Yager in discussing "Teaching Our Children to Cook" at the home of Mrs. Newt Canady, March 22nd.

"The home economic department of the high schools and 4H clubs are contributing much toward educating our children in food values, in planning well balanced meals. Many simple receipes for bread and cake making, vegetables, meats and salads can be found in magazines. Also many manufacturers put out little cook books as advertisements that may be found helpful for the amateur cook" the club was told by Mrs. A. L. Burnett in discussing "The Romance and Adventure in Cooking."

Those attending were Mesdames: Newt Canady, A. L. Burnett, Lee Marek, B. F. Stidham, S. S. Hickman, T. B. Stidham, E. B. Yager, O. O. Ansley, J. A. McKinney and Miss Ethel McKinney.

The next meeting will be with Miss Dorothy Porter, Home Demonstration Agent. The subject will be "Light and Air in the Kitchen" at the home of Mrs. Lee Marek, April 12th.

Mrs. Beuna Chambers,
Bryant Station Home Dem. Club,
Rogers, Texas:

"Take advantage of the natural lively curiosity of children and teach your boys as well as girls the art of cooking," Mrs. Edward Senkel told the Bryant Station club in their meeting on Thursday, March 24th, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Mann. "Besides the companionship it affords mother and child, and self confidence added knowledge brings, (which in themselves are well worth the time, patience and ingenuity required of the mother) the ability to cook may lead to a career or at least lucrative employment later in life."

"Receipes must be kept simple and step by step directions given or the child will loose interest. A shelf, drawer, box or some place for the child to keep his own utensils is desirable" were other thoughts that were brought out.

A few articles were shown suggesting what the child might like to have in his utensil drawer and recipes were distributed.

Refreshments of grape juice and fruit sandwiches were served to the 12 members present and the following visitors: Mrs. W. F. Etter, Mrs. Liberty Hill, Mrs. Luther Moore, Hugh McVoy and Mrs. Andrew Gersbach.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Edward Senkel on April 14. Miss Dorothy Porter, Home Demonstration Agent, will be present to discuss "Light and Air in the Kitchen." Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Gladys George Is Big Hit in Comedy Film at Cameron April 5 and 6

Gladys George, who gained stage fame through her performance in "Personal Appearance," reverts to a role of the same type in her new picture, "Love Is a Headache," in which she co-stars with Franchot Tone at the Cameron Theatre April 5 and 6.

Paradoxically, the actress scored her biggest success as a comedienne, but in motion pictures she has played three intensely dramatic roles in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," "They Gave Him a Gun" and "Madame X."

In "Love Is a Headache," Miss George as a "flopping" actress and Tone as a columnist who tries to bolster up her waning prestige fall in love but refuse to recognize the symptoms. Others playing prominent parts in the new comedy include Ted Healy, Mickey Rooney, Frank Jenks, Ralph Morgan, Virginia Weidler and Jessie Ralph.

Carlotta Lee (Gladys George) is a Broadway stage star whose last few plays have been flops. Her poor judgment in choosing plays has aroused the indignation of Peter Lawrence (Franchot Tone.) His daily column and his radio program are filled with criticism and insults of Carlotta. He is in love with the exotic actress and feels that he is helping her by these tactics.

When a window washer dies, Peter broadcasts for help for the two orphaned waifs (Mickey Rooney and Virginia Weidler) of the dead man, telling his listeners that without their help the two children will be committed to an asylum.

Carlotta's publicity agent, Jimmy Slattery (Ted Healy), conceives the idea of having Carlotta adopt the kinds as a swell publicity stunt. Joe Cannon (Frank Jenks) helps him in this plan. Carlotta is terribly infuriated when she discovers the kinds in her apartment, but they soon win her over and when Peter demands that she give them up she refuses.

In the meantime, the police department has stepped in, suspecting that the youngsters have been kidnaped. Ralph Odell (Ralph Morgan) who is in love with Carlotta, is really serious about the kids and wants to keep them. He tries to intercede for Carlotta, telling the police that the kids are in good hands, but the commissioner is adamant; he wants the children at his office immediately.

When Peter goes for the children, he discovers that Carlotta has taken them and run out of the state. That makes the charge against her doubly serious. Peter follows her to a small country hotel whose owner is also the sheriff and justice of the peace. He hears the two discussing their trouble.

In the conversation, Carlotta tells Peter that the only solution is for him to marry her. The hotel owner doesn't understand what is going on, but hears the word "marry." He enters the room behind a double-barrelled shotgun and performs the marriage ceremony, which is what the couple want. The kids join in a comedy clinch as Carlotta and Peter go into a more serious one.

Some interesting obeservations on speed are made in a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, which names an insect, the deer bot fly, as the fastest moving thing in the world, flying at the rate of about 1,200 feet per second, as aimed with a camera shutter.

As sound travels only about 1,100 feet per second, the bot fly traveling at full speed would be going too fast to hear the buzz of its own wings—theoretically, at least. And if it could sustain this maximum speed it could go around the world in about 36 hours.

Among birds, the speediest is the duck hawk. The falcon, swift, eagles and vulture are also among the fast flyers. The cheetah, a member of the cat family, is the fleetest of quadrupeds, while also noted for their speed are the antelope, gazelle, deer, giraffe and others. The ostrich, however, is the fastest creature that travels on foot.

At the funeral of Admiral Cary Grayson, eight respected Negro servants of the distinguished Virginia family were given seats in the section reserved for relatives, and followed the family from the church ahead of President Roosevelt and other dignitaries.

Old Time Vaudeville Comes Back in Swing Music Film "Everybody Sing" Here Friday

Old-time vaudeville makes its comeback in the most modern of swing musicals, "Everybody Sing," which opens a two day engagement at the Cameron Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Twelve famous teams of the two-a-day era are featured in one of the comedy sequences of the new production which boasts an all-star cast including Allan Jones, Judy Garland, Fanny Brice, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Reginald Gardiner and Lynne Carver.

Judy Bellaire (Judy Garland), an adolescent bitten by the swing bug, is thrown out of the Colvin School for Girls when she converts the morning singing hour and the esthetic dancing period into syncopated pandemonium. It is the fifth time she has been expelled. She goes home timidly to face the parental consequences and finds her family too engrossed in their mad pursuits even to listen to her. Hillary Bellaire (Reginald Owen), is feverishly writing a play. Diana (Billie Burke), his wife, is rehearsing to play in it with Jerrold Hope (Reginald Gardiner), a rotten actor, in whom she is interested. Sylvia (Lynne Carver), their other daughter, is doing vocal acrobatics. Olga (Fanny Brice), the maid, a protege of Count Boris Petrokoffanoff, "the best actor in all Russia," is living in the past because the present is too hetic. Enrico "Ricky" Saboni (Allen Jones) the chef, sings at the Cafe Nappo on the side. He and Olga are the only ones in the place who have any money. The family is as mad as five hatters. Judy's pater and mater decide to send her to Europe. They see her off on the boat; at least they think they do. Judy entrusts a sheaf of letters to Millie, her cabin mate, to be mailed home from each European city. Then she goes ashore in a packing box. Judy gets a chance to sing at the Cafe Nappo. Ricky talks Signor Vittorino, owner of the Nappo, into backing a musical stage production. Judy is given a part in it. Even Olga blunders into her big opportunity with a dance. The night of the opening happens to be the same on which the elder Bellaries are to have their premiere. A Berry society agent attempts to prevent Judy from appearing and Olga has him arrested as kidnapper. Judy's father learns that she is not in Europe, fears kidnapping, and abandons his opening to find her. Just as the curtain is to go up for Rickey's opening, they discover they haven't more than a dozen persons in the house. Ricky parades his entire company through the streets with circus technique and winds up with Bellaire's audience which follows the parade en masse. The show is a riot. Hillary and Diana arrive in time for the final curtain, and Diana, always the actress, takes her bows on the wrong stage. Even Olga discovers Count Boris Petrokoffanoff in a box.

It Is Dangerous

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

"Bulldog Drummond" Features Star Cast In Saturday Film

The all-important business of guarding military secrets from foreign and hostile nations on the part of governments, forms the gripping background of "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge," latest of the H. C. "Sapper" McNeile detective adventure stories, playing at the Cameron Theatre Saturday.

In the case of "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge," the title role of which is played by John Howard, supported by John Barrymore, Louise Campbell, Reginald Denny and E. E. Clive, a fictitious explosive, known as "Haxonite," is stolen from its inventor by a crooked servant placed in his employ by a spy ring. He then attempts to take the explosive to his employers on continental Europe.

That this is far from a motion picture fantasy, has been demonstrated time and time again, and it is because of situations like it that secret police agencies are employed by governments. All persons wishing to enter the employ of scientists working for war offices are carefully examined and investigated by these agencies before they are employed in order to safeguard against "leakage." It is admitted that the most leakage comes through unfaithful employees.

An indication of the extent to which governments go to protect armament secrets was contained in the recent announcement by the British naval authorities of the development of a new anti-aircraft gun for use on battleships. The design of this gun, the exisence of which has been known for some time, is one of Britains most valuable secrets. When pictures of it were released for newspaper reproduction it was apparent that the negatives were retouched in order to safeguard secrets of the gun's design.

War gasses and chemicals which military experts believe will settle future wars, are the most carefully guarded of secrets. While there may be means in existence to begin the manufacture of these substances almost at a moment's notice, no samples of it are generally kept because of the possibility of theft. The formula, however, reposes in war office safe where they are safe from theft.

Kash cotton seed grown from 1937 block seed forty-three per cent lint, 15-16 inch staple. $2 per hundred, carefully ginned. H. F. Huebner, Cameron, Texas, Rt. 1.

mals should be kept within the boundaries of the preserve, and that the cattlemen are justified in destroying them when they make raids on their cattle.

Meanwhile, the real despoilers of the herds are a gang of backwoods men who live far back in the hills—the Dawson clan, who force small Davy to assisit them in their rustling by taking his trained bear, Nero, along, to provide bear tracks which will deceive the Mesquiteers.

Stony, Tuscon and Lullaby turn in their usual excellent performances in this new picture. Their popularity is increasing by leaps and bounds, so that now they are considered one of the top western attractions in the field. Lullaby, portrayed by Max Terhune, displays his ventriloquial talents to good advantage, and does some animal imitations which alone are worth the price of admittance.

Lynn Roberts does well in the feminine lead, and is headed straight toward top-flight stardom. The role of Davy is taken by Sammy McKim, who has been a consistent screen stealer in his short film career. With a wide following as a result of his splendid work as the child Kit Carson in "The Painted Stallion," he now ranks as one of Hollywood's foremost juvenile stars.

James V. Mangano, Brooklyn sheriff, and 32 members of his staff volunteered to save the city $13,000 a year by taking a 7 per cent cut in their salaries. Believe it or not.
